Virtual Speakers

Virtual Speakers

Brief:

- We are looking for someone known to all/most of us, and/or that have been distinguishing themselves through extraordinary achievements underlining their relentless curiosity (e.g. Dyson – changing how the world looked at vacuum cleaners, Piccard - Solar-Airplane around the world, CERN Scientists – discovering the god's particle, or similar.)
- For that, please start exploring with PR agencies and come up with a list of potential speakers / cost for a 60-90min presentation on September 2, 10-11.30 CET.

Virtual Speakers

Ray Kurzweil: Director of Engineering at Google developing machine intelligence and natural language understanding, Co-Founder and Chancellor of Singularity University.

Fee for a virtual session would be CHF 65'500

Ray is one of the world's leading inventors, thinkers, and futurists, with a thirty-year track record of accurate predictions, he has been referred to as 'The restless Genius' and 'The Ultimate Thinking Machine'. He talks with great passion about the power of accelerating ideas, the need for strategic invention in science and technology and its impact on healthcare and medicine.

Ray's speeches have a transformative effect on delegates, and the impact of his ideas inspire a shift towards understanding and being inspired by learning and growth.

Virtual Speakers

Steve Wozniak: Apple Co-Founder

Fee for virtual would be CHF 54'000

The Apple co-founder chose not to stay with the business he and Steve Jobs established, instead his curiosity led him to focusing his energy on encouraging the next generation of technology entrepreneurs and innovators. Steve speaks about how he and Jobs made computers in a garage, the vision for home computing that they shared, and what will come next.

Virtual Speakers

Pranav Mistry: Former Head of Think Tank Team & Former Director of Research, Samsung Research America

Fee for virtual would be CHF 28'850

Pranav Mistry is the inventor of SixthSense, a wearable device that enables new interactions between the real world and the world of data. A PhD student in the Fluid Interfaces Group at MIT's Media Lab, Mistry's work includes intelligent sticky notes, Quickies, that can be searched and can send reminders; a pen that draws in 3D; and TaPuMa, a tangible public map that can act as a Google of the physical world.

His research interests also include Gestural and Tangible Interaction, Ubiquitous Computing, AI, Machine Vision, Collective Intelligence and Robotics

Virtual Speakers

Michio Kaku; Foremost Futurist

Fee for virtual would be CHF 28'850

Using the cutting-edge research of today's foremost scientists, he explores the science of tomorrow: computers, artificial intelligence, reshaping our genetic inheritance. He explains how science is opening entirely new avenues for society and organisations at large.

A mesmerising and humorous speaker he conveys a contagious sense of the wonders of science of today and tomorrow. He delivers a clear message of tomorrow's world propelling you into the future, which provides you with valuable advice on preparing for change.

Virtual Speakers

Hugh Herr: Director of the Biomechatronics Group at the MIT Media Lab, Expert on disruption and Re-thinking personal space.

Fee for virtual would be 27'000 CHF

"I imagine a future so advanced that we could rid the world of disability," says Hugh Herr. The director of the Biomechatronics Group at the MIT Media Lab, Herr builds bionic limbs that emulate our natural physiology. Born out of his own experience— Herr is a former rock climbing prodigy and double amputee—his work is expanding the limitations of the human body. His talks are nothing short of transcendent.

Hugh Herr is building the next generation of bionic limbs, robotic prosthetics inspired by nature's own designs. Herr lost both legs in a climbing accident 30 years ago; now, as the head of the MIT Media Lab's Biomechatronics group, he shows his incredible technology in a talk that's both technical and deeply personal.

Virtual Speakers

Howard Yu: is the LEGO professor of management and innovation in the prestigious IMD business school in Switzerland as well as the director of an executive education course.

Fee for virtual would be CHF 25'000

In 2015, Yu was selected by Poets&Quants as one of 'The World's Top 40 Business Professors Under 40,' and in 2018 he appeared on the Thinkers50 Radar list of thirty management thinkers 'most likely to shape the future of how organizations are managed and led.'

He has delivered customized training programs and speeches for leading organizations and his articles have appeared in Forbes, Fortune, Harvard Business Review, The Financial Times, and The New York Times

Virtual Speakers

Tim Peake-Astronaut

Fee for virtual would be CHF 18'200

Tim ran the London Marathon on a treadmill in space. Tim all kept in regular contact via video and social media with Earth, Tim spoke to over 1.5 million schoolchildren across Europe from 400km above the planet.

Tim talks about life in Space and also about the many scientific experiments he was involved in – Tim is a man who believes that curiosity makes you smarter and happier too.

Virtual Speakers

Bertrand Piccard:

Medical Doctor, Round the World Balloonist & Initiator of the Solar Impulse Project

Fee for a virtual event would be CHF 15'000

For Bertrand it's all about our state of mind and which one we decide to adopt, he prefers courageous, confident and curious. Faced with a problem or challenge, courage will help to overcome fear of failure, confidence will take you even further, but curiosity will help take you all the way to success. It is important that we relearn to communicate with our inner selves and embrace the confidence to be curious.

Bertrand invites audiences to tap into his experiences and draw inspiration from them for their own professional and personal lives. He is a natural and charismatic communicator.

Virtual Speakers

Pablos Holman: Futurist, inventor, and notorious hacker with a unique view into breaking and building new technologies

Fee for virtual would be CHF 14'500

Hackers are all about curiosity, and by combining new technologies and his skill for designing and inventing, Pablos Holman has helped pave the way for smartphones, tablets, 3D printers, and possibly the eradication of malaria by crafting a laser that can shoot mosquitos. One of his latest projects includes partnering with Amazon founder Jeff Bezos for his spaceship project, Blue Origin.

Holman believes we should all be asking more questions and start seeing the world through an inventor's eyes. He encourages delegates to boost their curiosity by adopting an inventor's mindset every day.

Virtual Speakers

Dhiraj Mukherjee: Co-Founder of Shazam & Entrepreneur

Fee for virtual would be CHF 12'200

Dhiraj Mukherjee is an experienced digital business executive and entrepreneur, with a proven track record in both corporate and start-up environments.

The co-founder of the billion-dollar company Shazam is currently Entrepreneur in Residence at PWC as well as an active angel investor, mentor to emerging technology startups and advisor to venture capital firms. It is his curiosity and desire to succeed that led him to where he is today

Virtual Speakers

Fee for a virtual event would be CHF 7'300

A real life iron man who can soar in to sky using human propulsion technologyWorking for BP for over a decade, Richard has been responsible for a series of innovations with the oil giant, but he has also witnessed first-hand the barriers to and difficulties with innovative thinking in large organisations.

His most high-profile project, a personal flight system likened to Marvel's Iron Man, is just one illustration of his ideas around innovation and why failure is essential to new discoveries and improvements.

Virtual Speakers

Louis Palmer; Inventor, Adventurer, Creator of the solar taxi.

Fee for virtual would be CHF 6'500

When he was 14, it was his dream to create and drive a solar powered car around the world and is the first man to drive around the world on solar power.

Some passengers of the Solar Taxi have been, Ban Ki Moon, James Cameron (Director of Avatar) and his highness Prince Albert II of Monaco.

His presentations are highly entertaining and inspirational for those who are seeking for solutions. Louis is coming up with unusual and surprising answers, presented with a lot of humour and depth. This makes his speeches so unique. He normally attends the events with his vehicle, the solar taxi.

Virtual Speakers

Frank M. Rinderknecht: CEO of Rinspeed and Unconventional Business Visionary

Fee for virtual would be CHF 4900

So what kind of car you would like "One that shrinks for easy parking" A four-seater that turns into a pick-up at the touch of a button" Or would you like seats that lean into the curves" Well, they all exist. Swiss inventor Frank Rinderknecht comes up with a different curiosity every year. With his company Rinspeed, he has a habit of unveiling a world's first and most innovative that is guaranteed not to go unnoticed.

In 2010, Rinspeed revealed its quirky BamBoo concept, which is bound to evoke plenty of admiration when it makes its debut at the 2011 Geneva motor show.

Virtual Team Building

Virtual Team Building

Brief:

Teambuilding: can you please start looking into exploring team activities that can be done in smaller groups in a virtual environment, and that have a tangible end-result

(e.g. in our team, three singers have recorded together virtually a song, which was very well received by everyone – maybe not something that requires so many specific skills, but you get the gist). Should last no longer than 60-75min.

Option 1

MOVIE DIRECTORS FOR A DAY

TIME & SIZE: Starting from 60 minute session. Teams from 5 to 35 people.

DESCRIPTION

Have you ever thought about turning your home or your office into a movie set? Always wanted to create the perfect team building company spot but never knew how? Employ your employees and turn them into your directors for a day. Together with your crew, develop your artistic skills and make an unforgettable video to share with your colleagues.

STRUCTURE

According to the company's objective the team will be asked to create the storyboard of a video with a strong emotional impact and divide the tasks. In the executive phase, each participant will have to make a short video with their smartphone, sending it to the rest of the group. In the editing phase, the group will integrate everyone's contributions into a single product, with the support of the Facilitator.

This experience is effective at showing people how our actions can be part of something much larger. Furthermore, the video can be used by the company for branding or sent to employees as a memento.

BENEFITS

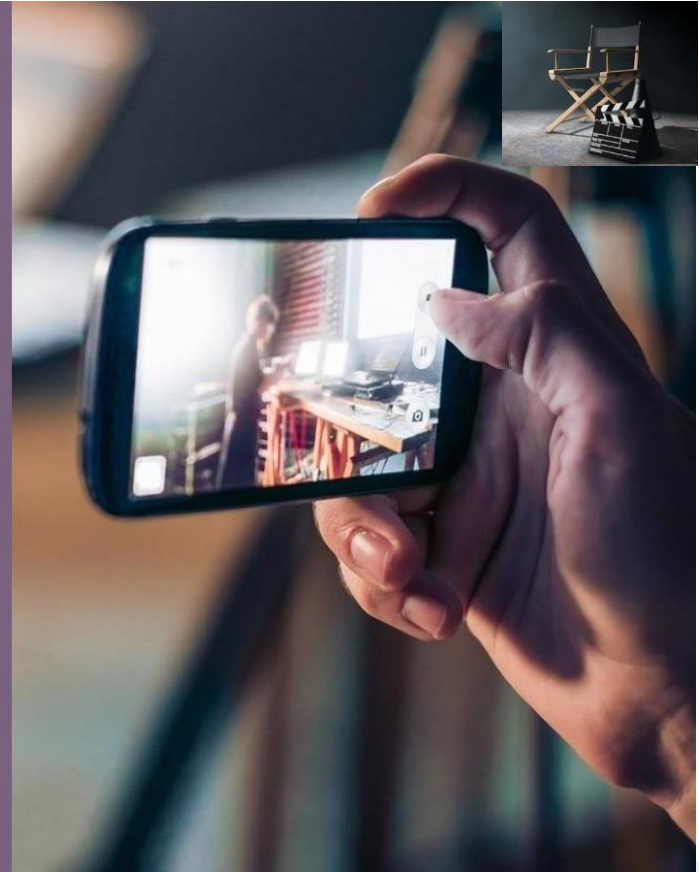

1. Teamwork
2. Creativity
3. Decision Making

INDICATIVE PRICE

3'200 if participants divide in teams

ADDITIONAL OPTIONS

- Trainer
- Realisation in other languages
- Extra time of the Experience

Option 2

MYSTERY MURDER

TIME & SIZE: Starting from 45 minute session. Teams from 4 to 20 people.

DESCRIPTION

Be part of a unexplainable theft directly from the comfort of your house. A famous painting has been stolen from the fair town of Vinci and it will be up to your team to unravel the mystery. You will be provided with all the elements so do not miss even the smallest clue. However, time is your enemy and you will have to make important choices. Your goal? Reconnect the clues, like pieces of a puzzle, and deduce the culprit.

STRUCTURE

The detectives will be debriefed on the scenario and and all the clues available from the start. As the game evolves the team will have to gather evidences by making collective decisions through our dedicated platform. This will provide useful information on the case. Unfortunately time is short and not all places can be visited. At the end of the experience the team will have to make a deduction on who is the culprit and the reasons behind the theft.

A thrilling experience to spend an evening with your colleagues while stimulating communication, creativity and intuition.

The theme is highly customisable and also adaptable to educational/marketing purposes.

RELEVANT SKILLS

1. Communication
2. Leadership

DESCRIPTION

Do you want to involve all your employees in a fun and playful way? Is it difficult to take the classic quiz if all participants are in different places? Then our virtual quizzes are the ideal solution. This experience allows colleagues to challenge each other in teams or individually to undertake all kind of questions and determine who is the wiser of them all. Our experiences are easy to use, interactive and effective on all devices. In addition, our technical support is always ready to give the best possible assistance to make sure everything goes smoothly.

STRUCTURE

The team, depending on the game mode, will have to answer a number of questions in competition against other colleagues or teams. Our quizzes can be played in live mode all together or deferred.

The objective of the experience is to create a positive and fun competition to stimulate motivation among colleagues, learn by playing and create unique memories. We create quizzes tailored to the needs of the company.
